CONTENTS

1 From the Editor
Peter J. LaPlaca

3 Ohmeda Monitoring Systems
Rescuing a tailed product introduction: A case history
H. Michael Hayes

17 Anatomy of a Complex Computer Purchase
Understand complex purchase decisions to avoid postmortems
S. Joe Puri and C. M. Sashi

29 Growing Importance of Marketing Strategies for the Software Industry
Marketing strategy is critical for increased returns for intellectual property
P. M. Rao and Joseph A. Klein

39 Segmenting Industrial Markets
Market demographics provide a useful basis for segmentation
Rodney L. Griffith and Louis G. Pol

47 Effects of Source and Paper Color on Response Rates in Mail Surveys
Color may have no impact, but the effects of sponsorship are black and white
Thomas V. Greer and Ritu Lohtia

55 Implementation Problems in Industrial Market Segmentation
Overcome difficulties in applying segmentation theory to industrial practices
Sally Dibb and Lyndon Simkin

65 Who Trains Salespeople? The Role of Sales Trainers and Sales Managers
Cooperative planning between managers and trainers leads to better sales training programs
Earl D. Honeycutt, Jr., John B. Ford, and John F. Tanner, Jr.

71 Issues in Marketing Local Area Network Products: Seen by Manufacturers, Value-Added Resellers, and End-Users
Customer service is the key to increased sales
R. Stephen Parker, E. Reed Doke, and Angela Acree

83 Improving Service Quality in an Industrial Setting
Perceptions of service quality are more important than technical quality
S. Anne Moore and Bodo B. Schlegelmilch

93 Discounts in Business Marketing Management
Don't discount the strategic value of discounts
K. J. Blois

101 Effect of Industrial Prenotification on Response Rate, Speed, Quality, Bias, and Cost
Prenotification may not be a cost effective way to increase response rates
Sarah Haggett and Vincent-Wayne Mitchell

111 Does the Name of the Sender Affect Industrial Mail Response?
Would you send information to a foreigner?
Sudhir K. Chawla and Rajan Nataraajan

117 Comparison of Business-to-Business Advertising: The United States and the United Kingdom
Similarities outweigh differences between industrial ads in these two countries
Bob D. Cutler and Rajshekhar G. Javalgi

125 Using Price as a Weapon: An Economic and Legal Analysis of Predatory Pricing
Don't shoot yourself in the foot with the price gun
Michael L. Ursic and James G. Helgeson

133 Effectiveness of Monetary Incentives: Mail Surveys to Members of Multinational Professional Groups
An up-front investment can yield a high return on your investment
J. Scott Armstrong and J. Thomas Yokum

137 Impact of the Inclusion of an Article as an Incentive in Industrial Mail Surveys
More is not necessarily better
S. P. Kalafatis and M. H. Tsogas

145 Simultaneous Marketing: A Holistic Marketing Approach to Shorter Time to Market
Add simultaneous marketing to simultaneous engineering for fast market entry
Bengt Barius

155 Tangible versus Intangible Copy in Industrial Print Advertising
The facts, ma'am, just the facts
Joseph A. Bellizzi, Lauri Minas, and Wayne Norvell

165 Measuring Trade Show Effectiveness: An Effective Exercise?
Which measures are best to use?
Paul Herbig, Brad O'Hara, and Fred Palumbo

171 Sourcing Preference Scale: Measuring Preferences of Purchasing Managers for Single Sourcing or Multiple Sourcing of Products
How to identify prime prospects for single sourcing
Cathy Owens Swift and Barbara J. Coe

181 The Standard Setter's Dilemma: Standards and Strategies for New Technology in a Dynamic Environment
How can one set the standards for new technology without becoming the target for competitive actions?
Barry N. Rosen

191 How to (and Not to) Use Bureaucracy with Independent Distributors
Sometimes a little red tape can be a beautiful thing
Brett A. Boyle

199 Industrial Distributors in the Twenty-First Century
Are you ready for the new, improved industrial distributor?
Paul Herbig and Bradley S. O'Hara

205 Countertrade Practices in Korea
What kinds of countertrade practices are most appropriate for dealing with Korean businesses?
Aspy P. Palia and Heon Deok Yoon

215 To Know Me Is to Trust Me
Learn how to earn the buyer's trust
Jon Hawes

221 Linking Experience, Product Life Cycle, and Learning Curves: Calculating the Perceived Value Price Range
Getting the price right increases both sales and profits
G. Dean Kortge, Patrick A. Okonkwo, James R. Burley, and Jeffrey D. Kortge

229 Implementing International Countertrade: A Dyadic Approach
How to use bartering for success in developing countries
Sam C. Okoroafo

235 Trends in Procurement Strategies within the European Aircraft Industry
New buyer behavior strategies require new marketing strategies to be successful
Stanley J. Paliwoda and Andrea J. Bonaccorsi

245 Innovation and Product Liability
New product liability laws have reduced innovation
Paul A. Herbig and James E. Golden

257 What Managers Should Know about Their Competitors' Patented Technologies
Find out what your competition may be introducing next year
William W. Keep, Glenn S. Omura, and Roger J. Calantone

265 Focusing on Large Prospective Customers in High-Tech and Industrial Markets
A practical framework to increase sales effectiveness
Patrick R. Mehr

273 Improving the Performance of the Industrial Sales Force in the 1990s
How to get more out of your sales dollars!
Richard T. Hise and Edward L. Reid

281 Information Support for Sales Managers
Sales managers make crucial externally oriented decisions, but receive primarily internal environment information
Robert W. Stone and David J. Good

287 MIPS—Managing Industrial Positioning Strategies
How to structure the positioning process in industrial markets
Hans Mühlbacher, Angelika Dreher, and Angelika Gabriel-Ritter

299 Government-Mandated Countertrade in Australia: Some International Marketing Implications
How to take advantage of countertrade requirements
Peter W. Liesch

307 Guaranteed Pricing in Industrial Purchases: Making Use of Markets in Contractual Relations
Firms use guaranteed pricing to facilitate transactions and reduce competition
David T. Levy

315 An Integrated Approach to the Development of Channel Strategy
Distribution strategy plays a key role in achieving corporate strategic objectives
Leonard J. Kistner, C. Anthony di Benedetto, and Sriraman Bhoovaraghavan

323 Country-of-Origin Effects on Purchasing Managers' Product Perceptions
How to structure the positioning process in industrial markets
Sadrudin A. Ahmed, Alain d'Astous, and Mostafa El Adraoui

333 High-Tech Firms Must Get More Out of Their International Sales Efforts: An Exploration in Developing a Competitive Edge
Better management and strong information support are needed for successful international high tech sales efforts
A. Coskun Samli, Gregory P. Wirth, and James R. Wills, Jr.

343 Determinants of Bargaining Power in OEM Negotiations
There are many ways to increase your bargaining position vis-a-vis your OEM partner
Dong-Sung Cho and Wujin Chu

357 How Accurate Are Salespersons' Perceptions of Their Customers?
Do salespeople understand their customers better than sales managers and customer service personnel?
Arun Sharma and Douglas M. Lambert

367 What the Marketing Professional Needs to Know about ISO 9000 Series Registration
Do you measure up to customers' new quality requirements?
Andrew J. Bergman

371 Positioning Against Foreign Supply Sources in an International Purchasing Environment
Changes in the international purchasing environment present unique strategic positioning opportunities
Hokey Min, Michael LaTour, and Alvin Williams

383 Modeling Customer Response in an Industrial Commodity Market
Two research techniques are combined for tactical and strategic insights
Mark L. Bennion and William H. Redmond

393 Establishing Supply Service Strategy for Shortage Situations
Supply shortages need increased industrial marketing attention
William B. Wagner

403 Strategic Interplays of an Actor in a Relationship with a Distributor
Fine tune your distributor relations for maximum effectiveness
Catherine Pardo and Robert Salle

419 Using Purchase Influence Niching for Better Focus in Industrial Marketing Plans: Observations and Examples
More narrow, purchase influence-based market niching can help to simplify and improve marketing planning
John A. Weber

439 The Relationship Marketing Process: A Conceptualization and Application
The promise of relationship marketing still lies ahead
Joel R. Evans and Richard L. Laskin

453 Author Index

Volume Contents